

I woke up early and did my daily chores in the morning. After that, I bathed and went to Kodur to run some errands. I xeroxed the documents and ran some errands. After that, I packed everything for my trip. In the afternoon, I didn't do much and I spent the entire afternoon regretting myself. In the evening, I went to a restaurant with Sunil and my brother. We ate three non-veg items. I spent the entire night doing most regrettable things. I finally found my rhythm in that and for that, I am very happy.
