

I woke up late because I knew my wifi was not working and I didn't have to attend the class. When I woke up, I had to hurry to participate in the interview with Tim Hortons. I went early and had to wait for a couple of minutes before I get interviewed by someone. I have done my part and they told me they will connect with me by the end of tomorrow through the mail if I am selected for the job. I came home and ate my lunch after some time at Rbc bank. Finally, I opened my account and I can work with all the things in online banking. We got ready for the movie and we took the bus and went to the movie theatre. Before we go to the movie, we stopped at mc Donalds to buy some coffee. the movie was good but it was worth it. Later that night, after watching the movie, I and my roommates met my classmates outside the theatre and we spoke for a few minutes. Right now, I am writing this one, once I am done with this, I will have to brush, pay my dues, and go to sleep.
