

This was the day that finally came and hit me in my life. Today, I am moving to Canada and this is going to be the biggest step in my life as well as in my family life. A lot of weirdness and a lot of good things happened today. Firstly, I want to start in the morning. I woke up early in the morning and realised that this was going to be my last sleep in India. I got ready and went to the temples to do the pooja ceremony and proceeded to the airport. Until this point, it happened on 30th June. I boarded my flight and didn't sleep at all because the middle seat was not comfortable. The food which was provided by the air hostess at that time was terrible. I went to the bathroom early in the morning and had tiffin on the flight before the flight lands. When I landed at the new airport, I didn't feel anything like I am stepping into a new country. Even though, it was Germany. I shopped for swiss chocolate duty-free at the airport and ate that stuff while I was waiting in the waiting hall. My flight got delayed by one hour and I didn't convey any message to Mahesh about the delay due to the wifi problem. My Tv didn't work at all for my seat. Due to that, I felt like some of the worst painful journeys anyone can take at that point. To add fuel to that, the food which was absolutely and delightedly worst. I landed at Toronto airport, underwent immigration and received my permits for study and work, and waited in the hall for one hour before my brother came to pick me up. Finally, I landed and both Mahesh and Dheeraj came to pick me up in the car. The roads were nice and beautiful and I enjoyed the car ride with them. We went to his old house to pick up the things which they left. I finally saw my new house and everything needs to be decorated and renovated. Right now, I am writing this diary after my bath. Once I complete this, I will have dinner and probably go to sleep.