

I started working on the project in the morning. I spent the entire time on that and chatted with group members regarding this. I thought it would take less time, but it turned out to be a great deal of time. While I was working, I received several parcels from the delivery persons. In the afternoon, I didn't do much as expected. I spent the afternoon dedicated to my mobile. My brother brought some snacks in the evening. after that, I attended the class and currently, I am in my class while writing this diary. After this, I will go for a bath and eat my dinner. I will watch movies tonight
