

When I woke up on my terrace, I had a beautiful and emerging sun falling all over the earth and especially on my face when I stood up from my cot. I arranged my bed and placed my things on the bedroom study table. I went to the bathroom and did my daily chores as usual apart from bathing. I heated some hot water and started reading the newspaper on my laptop for 30-45 minutes. When I completed the reading part, I went for a walk. Not only did I walk but also I read the CBC news. I had my tiffin and started reading the silent patient book. I had completed this book daily within a few hours and later I spent time with my mom doing chicken pulao recipe..I had my lunch and spent time studying swift language. In the mid afternoon, I mailed 99 bookstores to cancel my order because of the late delivery which I still receive. So, I cancelled that and ordered on flipkart. Did my leg exercise and went to the bath and started reading again. After a long time, I came to dinner and watched IPL while eating egg dosa.... Right now, going to brush and going to sleep is the slogan.
