

I woke up at 6 am because of my part-time. When I woke up, it was a bit cold and I had to wear a vest inside to go out. I started my journey at 7 am. I went to the Kennedy station. Initially, I added funds to my presto card and boarded the bus to the shift. My shift was a little bit easy for me because it was raining and the frequency of people visiting the shop was low. I returned home and ate my lunch while watching the news at precisely half-past two, I started cleaning the kitchen and finished in half an hour and read the newspaper. I had a power nap from that time to half-past seven. When I woke up, it was already night and I had a bath. After my bath, I studied a bit of CSS and ate dinner. Right now, I am writing this diary. Once I complete this, I will go and do my bathroom as well as kitchen schedule. Once I complete that, I will study the speak with impact book for an hour or so. If I am not sleepy at that point in time, I will try and study the CSS 3rd module.