

When I came from the terrace, my father already started his journey to Arunachalam. I did my walking part and ate my breakfast early in the morning. Because of dosa (tiffin), I was kind of sleepy because of that and I kind of lost my interest in studies and worked on newspaper reading, read the atomic habits, and received the forex card. In the afternoon, after completing my lunch, I started working on SQL tutorial group project and made the group project. Once I have completed that project, I watched youtube tutorials based on er diagrams in the afternoon. While I was doing my leg exercise, Manjula, who happen to be my aunt, spoke to me about abroad education. After the talk with my aunt, I went to the bath and during my bath, I heard a lot of sounds outside and realised it was raining outside. After my bath, I watched videos on cardinality relationships and after a couple of hours, I ate my dinner and currently watching the IPL while writing this diary. I am going to watch and browse SQL questions and gonna watch web series.
