

I woke up and immersed myself in the studies of Swift and apart from that I didn't do anything. I did very well considering one chapter at a time and learning everything. In the evening, I attended the class and realized the toughness of the language and prepared for the next exam.