

After I wrote my diary yesterday, I watched a couple of episodes of Koffee with Karan and went to sleep afterwards. I woke up at 2 pm and did my bathroom schedule and daily ritual. Aravind and I ordered chicken pakoda for our lunch. I and Aravind ate chicken with curd and rice. Before thinking of ordering chicken, we actually thought of making chicken biriyani but it will not be complete in the time because Aravind has to leave for his job at 4 pm. After he went to the job, I read the gone girl book for about 40 pages and read the newspaper. I started doing the trimming and made my bath after my trimming. After my trimming and bath, I watched the Netflix series for the entire evening. In the meantime, I spoke to my parents. Right now, I am writing this one. Once I complete this, I will have to help Aravind to make veg biryani for our dinner, wash dishes, and read the newspaper. If I have time afterwards, I will see if I can study. This is the only day I have without work because from tomorrow my schedule will start.