

I woke up at 11 am and did my bathroom schedule. I started with watching a couple of youtube videos in the morning and proceeded to the newspaper as well as the book reading in the afternoon. I ate my lunch within an hour after reading the newspaper. After my lunch, I read the book and took a break up to 7 pm. In the meantime, I watched one episode of the Delhi crime 2 web series and did some irregular things to waste the time. At 6 pm, I went to bathe and after that, I started reading the CSS language. My initial thoughts were I was not interested in that at all. I know that deep inside my body there is some motivation for study. So, I gathered that and studied for a bit. Right now, I had my dinner and night schedules. Once I complete this, I will browse my mobile and will probably go to sleep.