

I woke up early in the morning and did my daily chores and started reading the atomic habits book. I kept the water on the heater while reading and proceeded to bathe. I had a bath and ate breakfast. At half-past nine, I started watching SQL tutorials and studied up to 12:30 pm. In the morning, my father in past ordered the watch which costs about 5000. Today, we received the order and the delivery person didn't realize the value of the watch and told us to pay only 500 instead of 5000. He came at 1 pm and asked for the remaining money. I didn't know that my father ordered the fake Rolex watch until I saw it with my naked eyes. I convinced my father and kept and return the order for the watch. In the afternoon, I studied again while my parents went to the Tirupati. My mom brought some snacks and prepared tea before she went to the Tirupati. later, I heated the tea and attended my Lambton class and submitted the assignment at the last minute before the timing goes off. My parents brought KFC and I ate for dinner after I finished my class. Right now, I am writing this diary and after that, I need to brush my teeth and read the newspaper.