

I woke up at 6 am to go to my part-time job. I got ready and reached the office a few minutes early. I spent my entire morning and afternoon over there doing a shift. I met a few and shared a conversation with those people. I came home and didn't do much in the evening. At 8 PM, I started making dinner. within half an hour, I prepared my food and ate it. Right now, I washed all those utensils and started writing this diary. Once I am done with this, I will do my brushing part and bathroom part. After that, I will do my project.