

I was at the college precisely at 8:10 am. My professor asked me about the project demo after a while. We gave our demo, and actually, it went good. I came to the class and started studying for my final exam, which was due in a couple of hours. When I first saw the questions, I realised he fucked us with those types of questions. But google helped me a lot in finding those answers. I wrote my exam and came outside. I found Priya in the corridor, and I went and spoke with her for a while. I came home, read the book, ate my lunch, and had an unsuccessful nap. At around 6:30 pm, I did my bathing. After that, Aravind and I bought an iron box online and an extra protein shaker for myself. Right now, I am writing this fantastic diary. Once I finish this, I will eat dinner, brush my teeth, and study for a while.