

I woke up at 5:30 am to go for my shift. in the next hour, I got ready and went to the shift. in the job, I was constantly humiliated because I was not quick enough for the drive-thru and I realized at that point this is my last day working here and I dont want to come again. I took the humiliation and I came back home, ate lunch, and spoke to Arvanind regarding that I am moving to the security guard this week. I took a nap after that and woke up at 7 pm. After that, I cleaned the entire kitchen, washed the utensils, washed my underwear, and put my cotton jeans inside of my pillow to release some wrinkles on my pant before I go to college tomorrow. right now, I am writing this. once I am done with this, I will read the newspaper and I will cook rice. once I am done with my dinner, I will brush my teeth and will sleep.