

I started this day way too early compared to other days. I did my daily chores and spent time reading newspapers and watching web series in the morning before my breakfast. After my tiffin, I bathed and got ready to go to the temples in Tirupati along with my parents. We started our journey at half-past ten and reached two temples and did the pooja ceremonies in those temples. we returned home and ate lunch/snacks in the evening because we reached home at 4 pm. I spent time doing work on the arrive can website but it's not working because my journey is still more than 72 hours. I watched some videos on youtube and started writing this diary. Once I am done with the diary, I have to do a couple of things. Firstly, I need to read the book. Secondly, I need to study for the security exam. And finally, I may have a dinner invitation for tonight. Let's see how it goes and I will update you tomorrow about what I did later tonight.
