

I woke up at 6:30 am and went to the college. In the class, we had a project demo; by the way, our group was the last to give a demo. Ultimately, we didn't give the demo because we ran out of time, and it was postponed to tomorrow. When preparing for my demo, swathi(a classmate) came to me and asked me about my brother's phone number. I gave it to him and told them to call after noon. I went to Walmart with Madhav. he did the shopping, and I did the watching. I came home, ate my lunch, worked on the project, and napped. I woke up at 7 pm, and then I helped to make my dinner. I have had my dinner and am studying for my exam and writing this one. Once I am done with this, I will go and brush my teeth. I will probably watch web series for a while, and then I will sleep.
