

I woke up at 5:45 am, got ready, and went to the college. I reached college a few minutes early and watched so many people wearing traditional dresses for the Diwali event happening inside the college. I submitted my resume after college and came back home after that. When I came home, I cooked my lunch, took a nap, and then woke up at 7 pm. From that point in time, it did come. Right now, I am doing my ironing and writing this diary. Once I am done with this, I will eat my dinner. Apart from that, I tried to smack the food, but it didn't come because the number was invalid. I will go to my job at 10:30 pm.