

I woke up at around 8 am on my terrace and came to my home and spent some time browsing mobile phones before going to do daily rituals. I read the newspapers and went for a 30 minutes walk. I had my breakfast and studied the da vinci book. The reason behind my book reading instead of swift language is because I was having a sleepover. When I completed my reading, I spent my time watching web series, lunch and twitter. In the meantime, I downloaded the da vinci code movie which I am going to see after the completion of my book.

In the mid afternoon, I spent 2 hours watching sql tutorial and after that I had my leg exercise workout.

After my bath in the evening, I did go to swift language and before completing my full quota of swift I came back to dinner. Right now, I had my dinner and I am thinking of studying remaining swift...