

As I told you earlier, I was tired of both the journey and no sleep. I decided to sleep early but Arvind is working on his project. So, it takes some time before he switches off the light. I decided to sleep in Dheeraj's room. I took everything from a water bottle to a pillow and arranged everything in that room. Initially, I watched Netflix for a bit and went to sleep. It was a good sleep. I woke up at quarter to eight and came to my bed after the bathroom schedule. When I come to the hall, I smell the perfume and realized that Aravind had gone to college. I attended the class and the whole class was useless with his demos. For the first time, he is even asking questions during the demo which he prepared very hard I believe. After the class and lunch, I went to the bank to know the status of my credit card and debit card. I went a bit early to the bank and had to wait for the person who are supposed to meet with me. I explained all the reasons that I am getting. She ordered a new credit card for me. I have to go to the bank to collect the card whenever they call me that they received the card. I enquired about the debit and they told me that I haven't had any security issues. The solution that they told me for the reasons that I was getting is they didn't mention the apartment number. Due to that reason, I didn't receive the card. After done with the bank, I went to the library to return the book and pick up the new one. I did that and came home. I was tired and took a bath. While I was having a bath, I saw an email from service Ontario which says that my license has been approved. I was overwhelmed at that point and quite literally happy. After the bath, I spent some time on the license editing, applying to the security companies, and talking to various people regarding this. I spoke to Suresh and he told me about his security company. I tried contacting them and they told me to contact them tomorrow. Donia texted me and she wants to know about the security license. I said it is a long process and asked about the phone call. She called me and we spoke about that particular point and some other things. I did my assignments and submitted and sent them to the group. I had my dinner, paid the rent, cleared the splits, and waiting for the pizza which Arvind is getting from his part-time job. Once I am done with this, I will eat pizza, clean my teeth, watch web series, and will go to sleep.
