

I woke up at 5:30 am and went to the bathroom to bathe, and brush. I did my brushing part at 6 am and came out to change to towel from clothes to bath. Laxman anna woke up and told me he was going outside for some work. I started my day by going to college. In the class, he told us to write the lab test exam. everyone completed it very fastly and in fact, I came out of class very quickly. I reached my home and the first thing I did was laundry. I washed my socks, spoke to my father, and started working on the project. When I was working on the project, Dheeraj bro came and we spoke a bit on all things. In the afternoon, I took a nap and started watching the DevOps tutorial. Laxman bro asked me to come outside. So, I went out in the rental car he hired. Firstly, we went to one place to get the documents from his friend. secondly, we went to the Hyderabad place to drink tea. It was a good place to visit because of a lot of Telugu people and all and the tea was also good. I came home and worked on the remaining tutorial and worked on the Trello board. Right now, I have to eat my dinner, apply the cream on my face, and study for a bit regarding the swift questions. one thing I forgot to tell you while I was writing was our professor caught us and told our class people that he will ask questions tomorrow.
