

I read the newspapers and angels and demons book in the morning after I finished my breakfast. My father, brother and grandmother discussed going to the Srikalahasti temple. In the afternoon, after lunch, they went to the temple. I studied swift language in the afternoon and wasted much time because of sleep. In the evening, before going to the class, I had a bath and attended the class. From half-past five to six, I listened to the class in the verandah while sipping the coffee. After that, I went to my terrace and listened and worked on my assignment over there. I did my assignment first question and I was doing the second one until the class was completed. I didn't do that second question and came down-home to have dinner and did my brush. I spent my time watching web series on my terrace before I slept and the sky is not happy with my village. It was full of bizarre going on and I came down to house to sleep on the sofa.
