

I don't feel like writing today because I am tired of today's work and I lost my motivation. I woke up to the sound of a door breaking in my room. The reason for that is Mahesh's room got locked yesterday and the manager came today morning and broke the door handle. I woke up and did my schedule for the morning hurriedly because I was out of time for my work. I got ready and went to work. There, I worked for straight five hours doing the billing part only. I took a break in the afternoon by taking the peanut doughnut and iced cappuccino. I came home and ate my lunch. For the next one hour, I watched TV. After the TV part, I filled and submitted my boarding documents to both Tim Hortons and Allied securities. At half-past eight, I started reading the Gone Girl book last part and ended with the 20 more pages remaining in the book to read. Right now, I had a bath and writing this one. Once Aravind comes home, we will think about dinner and I will do my night schedule once I complete my dinner. I am thinking about the newspaper or CSS course to study for tonight. I haven't decided anything and I don't know whether I will read or not.