

I slept very late and woke up pretty late. I got a call from my parents before I woke up and I told them I will call after I woke up. I woke up at 11 am and did my bathroom chores. I ate my breakfast and spent time reading the dan brown book. after that, I and Aravind cleaned both hall and kitchen and prepared lunch. we ate lunch and I spent the afternoon watching KCR live press meet. At around 5 pm, we went outside to run some errands and we came home and prepared the dinner. After some time, I got ready and went to the security license office to get the CPR certificate. I took the class, paid the money for the certificate and came home. While I was coming home, I spoke to my mom and she delivered a piece of wonderful news which my parents and I were waiting for a long time. it was the cheque from the insurance company to my father. I went down to receive some items from Dheeraj which he brought from somewhere. I am writing this diary. Once I complete this, I will have dinner, speak to my father I guess, and to sleep.