

I woke up at 5:30 because I needed to go to college. When I reached the college, I called Lokesh as well as Madhav and they both said they were not coming to the college. So, I went to the class and was looking for a security guard job and eagerly waiting for the break to call the security companies. I called a few companies and they told me how to apply for their companies. Later, I went to the co-op class and when she was about to give me a break, I got a call from pillar security I lifted the call and she told me that I am selected for the job and I was over the moon when I heard the news. I came back home after the class and ate food. I studied for a bit and slept like a baby afterwards. I woke up at 8 pm and made dinner. Right now, I am writing this. once I am done with this, I will eat my dinner and study for a bit.
