

While I was starting to write today's day, I was not able to focus because I was watching the KGF movie and completely immersed myself in the movie music as well as dialogues. I woke up and came down and did a few things because I am going to rajampet. I drank warm water, watched some political videos and listened to songs before I had tiffin. Once I completed my breakfast, I went to the bath and dressed myself and caught a bus to rajampet. I took the pallevelugu bus and started reading the news on my phone. Because of the breeze from outside, it made me think about something about myself. I thought of various things such as becoming a collector and coming to home, riding the car. I reached Rajampet and took the auto and went to my aunt's house. I waited for some time and went to the driving licence office. I took the xerox of the documents and went to the office and said that I am from this place and sent me by some person. He only took my fingerprint and said to me that the exam was over. I came back and ate lunch and spent the entire afternoon watching videos on my mobile. At around 5:30 pm, I took the bus and came home. It was a journey which happened fastly and when I came home, I took my bath. After this, I spent the time watching the kgf movie. I will have to eat my dinner and will go to sleep.
