

I woke up at 12 pm and when I came outside from the bedroom, Aravind informed me about the table delivery. I got ready and made an unboxing of my table. While I was unboxing, I noticed a monitor in my room I asked Aravind about that and he told me he bought that for 80 dollars. In the afternoon, after I studied newspaper, I prepared rice and ate it. After my lunch, I was watching a lot of youtube videos. In the evening, I ordered a chicken shawarma poutine and I ate half of it and put the remaining in the fridge. I watched two episodes of Korean drama and came here to write my diary. Once I write this, I will have to read the book that I am currently reading, soak the almonds, eat my dinner, brush my teeth, prepare my shoes for the part-time, and speak to someone I guess before going to sleep.
