

I had to stick with the bed when my class time was near and starting. At around half-past seven, I woke up, did my chores, and attended class. It was a demo at the start and an assignment at the end. I made my breakfast, cleaned the utensils, and ate egg dosa in the morning. I ate my lunch, studied for a bit, bathed, and went to the downtown area to do the uber walk along with Madhav. in the span of 3 hours, I completed 5 orders and got 23.38 dollars. after the last order, my mobile was about to die and I came home. I came, freshened, drank juice, washed the utensils, helped my brother in the process of making dinner, and now sitting and writing this diary. after this, I will search about Coursera courses, eat my dinner, and watch videos on youtube.