

I woke up at 6 am and went to the college. In college, I faced humiliation in the first period as the professor asked questions about yesterday's class. I didn't do much, and I gave the demo for the business app we are doing. He told me he would say a couple of things. But he didn't say anything. I went to Birchmount with my friend Rajesh to collect his cheque from the office. I came back home, cooked my lunch, ate my lunch, read the book for a while, and took a nap. I woke up at 7 pm when I heard a voice from others. Laxman bro asked me to come to the LCBO shop to get the alcohol. I went along with him and came back after a while. When I arrived, I worked on my diary. Once I complete this, I will eat my dinner and think of studying for a time. Before I go for my dinner, I need to iron my clothes for tomorrow's class.
