

I didn't do much in the morning. I was immersed in my work such as cleaning, flossing, brushing, and bathing early in the morning. After my bath, I had my breakfast, read the Gujarat files book, and read the blog of swift language. In the afternoon, after my lunch, my brother came from Rajampet and we had an engagement going in my family. The entire afternoon was a bit of study as well as fun with my parents and relatives. My parents and my relatives leave the house at half-past five to attend the engagement and I attended the class and worked on it. We lost power once I was in my class and we received power once my relatives and my parents came to the house after the engagement. I did the group project and I leave the class after the time my class is over. In the meantime, I was also observing the IPL match between RCB VS LSG. while I was eating after my class, we lost power and we didn't get it until it was 1 am in the midnight. I observed the score and luckily, RCB won the match. I downloaded a few videos and watched them before I retire to sleep.
