

When I woke up, I made a call to Mahesh regarding the flight booking and when should I come to Canada. After that particular discussion, I did my daily chores and attended to my daily reading of the newspapers. In the morning, after my breakfast, I searched for my flight tickets. While I was doing that, my cousin called me and spoke for more than one hour about Canadian education. After my lunch, I didn't spend much time doing anything and did only things which I regret every day. After my bathing, I spent the next number of hours attending workshops and orientation from my college. I ate my lunch and had power cuts while I was in the orientation. During the workshop, my answer panel was moving fastly rather than appearing after the questions were displayed. Due to this reason, I didn't do well although I know the answers to most of the questions. I felt really bad about that.
