

I woke up at 6 am and it took me one and half hours to get ready for my college. I started at 7:30 am by walking from my home to the bus stop. I took the bus and reached the college at 8:20 am I guess. Madhav waited for me near the bus stop and we both went to the college simultaneously. in the class, we did our lab test 2 exam and at exactly 12:30 pm, we attended the co-op class. This was our first class related to the co-op and we ordered our food while in the class. After the class, we sat in the lunch area and it rained a bit heavy at the moment. We did the map view over there and we all went to the Walmart near the Scarborough town centre. I bought a face cleanser and a razor for myself. After that, I came home and watched one episode of Koffee with Karan and took a power nap. I dont say it is a power nap. its rather a bit of sleep. I woke up and watched the DevOps one-hour tutorial. Right now, I am writing this. after this, I will work on my project and send the zip file to Madhav to work on them. I will read the newspaper as well for today. In night, I will cook with the help of Aravind and I will sleep after my night schedule.