

I woke up suddenly and watched the time and it was half past eight. I switched on the phone network and opened the laptop to get into the class. I got a message from Donia which says "nobody in the class". I said to her that I woke up just now and she told me " oh... Good morning. Rise and shine".I felt a little bit closer because of the message and I asked about what to do and she told me to install the tools. I installed it, got ready, and spoke to my father and he said they received the phone and worked on the hello world app. We prepared upma for our lunch. after the completion of my hello world program. We joined one person in our group and I read the book for more than one hour. In the afternoon, I had a nap and started studying the swift language. I got the clarity of what to read and how to read. meanwhile, Dheeraj called me and said one work to get the parcel of chicken kothu parotta from the Kalyani restaurant. I did that, did my bath, studied for a bit, went outside for groceries, prepared dinner and ate it. In the evening, I and Mahesh went to Tim Hortons for coffee and doughnuts. When I ordered the small one, I realized I made a big mistake because the small is 1.99 and the medium one is 2.19. right now, I am writing this one, once I complete this, I will speak to my parents and I will watch something after my night ritual work.
