

I woke up at 6 am to go for my shift. I ate bread and started my journey in the morning. The bus was a bit late in the morning and I reached the destination on time rather than early. I worked my shift over there from morning 8 am to 1 pm and took a break in between them. I came home and ate my lunch and had a wonderful nap. After waking up at 8 pm, I had a bath and started studying newspapers and books. I watched several videos to find the best book to read and I started reading death in the Nile book. After the book, I ate my dinner and had a conversation regarding so many things. Right now, I am writing this one. Once I am done with this, I will study for a bit and if possible, I will speak to Krishna. later I will brush my teeth .
