

It has been a good day for me. I woke up as usual on my terrace and came to do my chores as usual. I started reading the newspapers while sipping the warm water and after I completed I went and did a 30 minutes walk. Then , I wrote my daily work to do for the day. I started reading the da vinci book in the morning and completed it around mid afternoon.

In the mid afternoon, I had my lunch and spent some time watching youtube videos and web series. At around 3:00 pm, I spent my time in android app development and later I did my leg exercise.

I took my bath and proceeded to my java awt tutorials and studied for some time that I had earlier imagined and I am happy with the way I studied so far today.

I spent the rest of the day watching RCB VS PBKS match...

Today, as I earlier said, it has been a good day...