

I woke up early and did my daily rituals and went for walking and leg exercises. Today, I did both in the morning and did my breakfast as well as book reading the morning. My parents went to Tirupati for the temple because of money problems as well as he is celebrating his birthday. I ate my lunch and studied for a bit. In the evening, my brother went to rajampet. From half-past five to half-past nine, I attended the first class at Lambton college. The class was fine and we installed tools and created a fake database.
