

I woke up and attended the class at 8 am. My wifi got lost in a few minutes and didn't work because of the low fibre signal. Because of this issue, I decided to go to the bank to verify my documents. I went to the bank and the representative verified my details and told me to bring the rental document for the verification purpose. In the meantime, while I was in the bank, donia contacted me to come to the college because of the project. I went to the college and we worked for almost two hours in the college before I come home. Once I reached home, I worked on a few things and ate some snacks. In the evening, I went to the library to print out a few items. While coming to the room, I went to the grocery store to buy chicken as well as bananas. One thing that happened in the grocery store was the amount I paid to them was extra. I bought only one packet of bread but the customer service representative gave the bill for two packets of bread. After this whole process, I came home and slept after reading a book. For dinner, we ordered some chicken poutine and shawarma.
