

I am writing this diary while sitting in front of my tv watching an IPL match. I woke up as usual at 8am on my terrace and came to my bedroom and left my mobile phone, water bottle on the table which I had been studying for the past 10 days. I cleaned my teeth, my face and came to my table to study the newspaper with hot water. I had completed my breakfast and did a 30 minutes exercise from 9 am to 10 am. Today, I had a bath in the morning after so many years because it is the festival of the great ugadi. After my bath, I started reading the silent patient book upto 1:30 pm. I came to my lunch at 2pm and watched some youtube videos on tv. In the meantime, my brother and my sister went to watch the RRR movie in the theatre. I spent the rest of the afternoon browsing my mobile phone. At around 5pm, when I was watching the butler's innings, we got visitors to my house. So, as a result, I went to the bathroom and cleaned my face. Let me tell you about visitors. The visitors are subbarayudu, and the debt giving grandmother to my father. They came to my house to discuss the loan which we will take if they give us the money. After they left my house, I argued with my father and Subbarayudu came and we had motivational therapy. In the evening, I spent time learning swift tutorials . While I was studying, I decided to change myself because there were a lot of thoughts going through my mind after the therapy, not only that I have realised some things. I had my dinner and started writing a diary.

There are a couple of things I have to do before I go to sleep such as washing my face, brushing my teeth, and applying some face cream on my face.....
