

It was a normal day. Compared to the other days, I didn't do much. I woke up, attended the class, gave a demo of my project, and prepared for my security exam in the afternoon. At 3 pm, I went to Dheeraj's room to write the exam. Firstly, they provided the zoom link to attend and did a couple of steps before I wrote my exam. I wrote the exam and it was a bit challenging I feel to write the exam because they were scenario-based questions. I completed the exam, spent some time with roommates, and prepared dinner very fastly. We ate the food at 8 pm I guess and I went to sleep. I didn't sleep until 1 pm because my back hurting again.
