yesterday, There was rain at midnight when I was sleeping. I came down, slept on the sofa, and woke up early. I didn't do much in the morning as I expected. I ate tiffin and went to the bazaar to pick up the parcel from the couriers. I saw what was inside the parcel. after that, I pretty much worked on the project in the morning and in the afternoon. I didn't get the output at the end and I leave it like that. during the class, everyone was stuck with the constraint positions and even the professor was unable to do it. I did that one and explained it to the professor in the chat. Eventually, he did the same method without using all constraints. He gave me the presenter option to show how I have done and I showed how I was done. Everyone started praising me in the chat as well as the professor acclaimed me. I got so high that I can do anything from that point in time. I completed my project and helped other people. I will have to eat my dinner, brush my teeth, watch web series, and sleep. From tomorrow, my busy schedule starts.
